

Registration opened!

After having published the 2012 official calendar, among which we count 5 events in Europe and an official testing session at the Paul Ricard circuit, European Le Mans Series is opening officially its 2012 registration.

European Le Mans Series wishes to achieve better participation in 2012 where we had 35 cars committed along the season....about forty cars are expected in all categories: LM P2, LMPC, LM GTE Pro, LM GTE Am and GTC.

Registration forms are already available on the website, www.lemans-series.com in the Competitor's corner.

REGISTRATIONS: Deadline by the 18th of January, 2012, at midnight!

European Le Mans Series on your TV screen in 2012

In 2012, European Le Mans Series are back on track and on TV screens. A new season produced by the company named Stop & Go, which will be in charge of broadcasting during the whole year.

Geoffrey Dellus, Franck Broqua and Anne Bernard will manage the production while Laura Cotterill will take care of diffusion and TV rights, like in previous years.

European Le Mans Series will be available through many different accesses: TV live, streaming (whole or parts of the races), highlights after every race. We will inform you about which channels and countries where the broadcast will be available.

We are planning to broadcast a presentation documentary introducing the Series and racing teams. Please be aware that the TV team will attend the official testing session on the 9th and 10th of March.
